DUPONT TO SPEAK TO CIRCLE K

Al DuPont, mayor of the city of Tuscaloosa, will be the guest speaker for the second meeting of Shelton State's chapter of Circle K. Mayor DuPont will speak on city government. The meeting will be at 7:15 a.m. on Tuesday, June 25, in the auditorium or in room 87. Coffee and juice will be served. All students and faculty are invited to attend.

Dr. Bob McCurley was the speaker at the first meeting of Circle K and he presented a number of good ideas in getting a new club started. Several members of the Golden K Kiwanis Club and the Circle K Club at the University of Alabama were present.

"Our first meeting was a good one, and we appreciate our sponsoring organization, Golden K, and the University chapter helping us get started," said Dr. Benny Ford, Shelton faculty advisor.

NEWS FOR MONDAY REPORT

The MONDAY REPORT is a weekly newsletter designed for Shelton State personnel and students. Anyone who would like something in the MONDAY REPORT should turn it into Lucy Kubiszyn at the junior college by noon on Thursday.

SUMMER SOUNDS

The next concert in the park, scheduled as part of Summer Sounds, will be the Fourth of July at Bowers Park. The Tuscaloosa Symphony Pops will perform at 7:30 p.m. with the traditional fireworks afterwards. Summer Sounds is sponsored by the Arts Council, PARA, and Shelton State Community College.

SUMMERSHOW PRESENTS BRIGADOON

SummerShow will present "Brigadoon," a musical by Lerner and Loewe, July 11-14 at the Bama Theatre. Performances for Thursday-Saturday, July 11-13, will be at 8 p.m. Sunday, July 14, will be a matinee performance at 2:30 p.m. This is wholesome, family entertainment, according to director Zander Bretwski, with such memorable songs as "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "I'll Go Home with Bonnie Jean," "Heather on the Hill," "Almost Like Being in Love," and others. For tickets, contact the Bama Theatre.

LOCAL LIBRARIES TO EXHIBIT TUSCALOOSA NEWS CONTEST ENTRIES

Entries from the Tuscaloosa News-Kodak International Photography Contest which began Sunday, June 16, and will continue through July 26 are currently on exhibit at the Shelton State Community College Library, The University of Alabama Library, Stillman Library, and Tuscaloosa County Public Library.

THE TUSCALOOSA NEWS selects ten semi-finalists each week. As there are many worthwhile photographs that aren't selected, the NEWS and the libraries decides to exhibit some as a service to the community.

Each library is assigned one to two week's entries from the six-week contest. Shelton is exhibiting June 24-28 and July 29-August 2, 1985. Still will exhibit July 1-5. The University of Alabama Special Collection Department is exhibiting July 8-12 and July 15-19. The Tuscaloosa Public Library is exhibiting July 22-26.

FROM THE FIRE COLLEGE

The Alabama State Fire College will sponsor the Minimum Standards School on June 24-28 at the Fire College in Tuscaloosa.
